I am a second year psychology student in Izmir University of Economics, with a big passion for learning and improvement. I've been volunteering as a research assistant in SMART Lab since December, 2024; which provides me with an incredible opportunity to work with determined, likeminded researchers who assist me in my pursuit of extensive knowledge. My current research interest is mainly on numerical cognition and spatial-numerical associations. I am highly motivated to enhance my skills in a group environment and continue my studies in higher education.
