I am a first-year Ph.D. student in Experimental Psychology at Izmir University of Economics, with a strong interest in numerical cognition and the development of spatial numerical associations (SNA). Since July 2025, I have been volunteering as a research assistant in the SMART Lab to develop my methodological skills, gain experience, and learn new competencies in the field. I am particularly interested in how the number-space mappings emerge in children and how cultural and educational contexts shape these mappings.
